Tastes of local tradition

Visiting a territory also means discovering the knowledge and tastes of its local tradition. The ancient gastronomic tradition of Padua is based on the simple products of the garden, the barnyard, the vineyard, the different types of sausages, the fruit in season and the spontaneous wild seasonal herbs. As far as the first courses are concerned: the traditional "risotto ricco" (tasty risotto) in the Paduan style, the special risotto with chicken giblets, the wonderful risotto with the spontaneous wild herbs, with the "bisi" (peas), with quails or radicchio. We suggest you to taste the homemade pasta and noodles. Second courses include stuffed duck, gosling with fruit, Paduan chicken, rabbit, poultry kebab, fried chicken, and stewed meat; For dessert you may have cakes and pies with fresh fruit or compote, pastries flavoured with Muscat served with zabaglione, and "pinze" cakes with maize flour. The generous Paduan wine was already known and appreciated by Petrarca and Ruzzante and it is nowadays proposed by the reliable and professional wine producers gathered in the Consortium of D.O.C. wines of the Euganean Hills and Bagnoli.
